WATERWAYS CONVENTION

Has Been Postponed On Account of the Cairo Quarantine.

The Waterways convention has been postponed. The Cairo Bulletin says:

The fourteenth annual convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, which was to have been held in Cairo the last week in next month, has been postponed until the middle of November. The exact date has not been decided upon.

The postponement of the convention, which is expected to be the most noteworthy one in the history of the association was made at the suggestion of Mayor Parsons, owing to the strict quarantines now in force here and the yellow fever scare it the south. Recently he wrote to the officers of the association, recommending the postponement of the meeting and yesterday received a letter heartily endorsing his plans.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT ALL THE SCHOOLS

Three Teachers Absent When School Convened.

New McKinley School Ready For Occupancy—Everybody in a Rush Today.

NUMBER ENROLLED NOT KNOWN

After a three months vacation, the school children of Paducah returned to their studies this morning—entered into another nine-months' period of labor and study—and from every indication the conditions will be better for both pupil and teacher this year than ever before in the history of the public schools. Every one is working with a will from members of the school board to the pupils themselves.

All was bustle and hurry at the schools this morning—a gay sight to look upon. Boys and girls of all ages lined the halls and marked the lawns and yards with gay colored dresses of every pattern.

The advancement of the schools, the betterment of the teaching facilities, and the new departures inaugurated in the social lines make school life attractive, make the pupils welcome their studies, which are essential to a successful school system, and from every indication this is what Paducah now has.

Each principal was stationed in the hallway this morning assigning pupils to teachers, who issued entrance cards. This enabled the superintendent to look after other matters of importance, and Supt. Leib was a busy man.

There was one new school to look after, and three vacancies to fill. The McKinley school was gotten into shape and the attention of Secretary Pitcher of the school board, and Supt. Leib was then turned to the teachers. All teachers were at their post except three. Prof. W. H. Sugg, of the Franklin building, who is ill. Miss Emma Morgan is teaching for him while her class in English at the High school is without a tutor.

Miss Margaret Acker, teacher of the fourth grade, Jefferson school, is ill, and also Miss Audrey Taylor, of the McKinley school, third grade. Substitutes have been secured for both, but Miss Emma Acker, who has not yet returned from the Portland exposition, has no substitute.

A telegram from her received several days ago stated she started home on the 5th and should be here within a day or two. Her room will be without a teacher until she arrives.

The pupils were dismissed this morning immediately after the taking up of school and sent to the city to procure books. This afternoon at 1:15 the teachers began active duties in teaching and by tomorrow all the excitement of school opening will have subsided.

School hours are from 8:30 to 11:45 a. m. and 1:15 to 4 p. m. and this morning the attendance was very large. Nothing can actually be told of the enrollment before tomorrow, but from indications the enrollment will be much larger than last year.

LOSES FOOT.

Young Man Stealing Ride and Hurt in Wreck, Has Worse Misfortune.

Alonzo Utley, of Ft. Worth, Tex., who was injured in the freight wreck at Obion river, Tenn., last week, suffered the loss of his right foot this morning, the doctors deciding that amputation was necessary to prevent blood poisoning.

The young man was stealing a ride when the trains came together and jumped in time to escape the falling cars. His right foot was caught and badly crushed. He was brought here and given every attention, but it was impossible to save the member.

Dr. D. G. Murrell and E. R. Earl performed the operation and Utley is reported doing well, having stood it nicely.

Some are so seriously hurt that it is doubtful if they will recover. It was the worst wreck on the elevated system in the history of the city.

FATHER ARRIVES.

And Takes Out a Warrant Against a Lineman For Adultery.

Charles E. Cook, a telephone lineman, was arrested this morning by Detectives Moore and Baker on the North Side, on a warrant charging him with adultery, Mrs. Maggie Breed love, of Louisville, being named as co-defendant.

This morning John Mitchell, of Louisville, came to Paducah and swore out a warrant charging the two with adultery. He stated that the woman was his daughter and that she and Cook had run away from Louisville. He spent nearly two weeks in attempting to locate them and finally did in Paducah.

When arrested Cook claimed that he sent the woman home yesterday and as she could not be found, is presumed he did. Cook was locked up, being unable to give bond, and will be given a hearing tomorrow in police court. Mitchell says he will remain to prosecute him.

Tangier, Morocco, Sept. 11.—Samuel R. Gummere, the American minister, and a number of European inhabitants have abandoned their residences in the suburbs and removed to the center of the town at the request of the Moroccan authorities, who said they were unable to guarantee their safety, owing to the disturbed condition of the surrounding districts. Severe fighting continues between Raisulli's and other tribes.

The pupils were dismissed this morning immediately after the taking up of school and sent to the city to procure books. This afternoon at 1:15 the teachers began active duties in teaching and by tomorrow all the excitement of school opening will have subsided.

School hours are from 8:30 to 11:45 a. m. and 1:15 to 4 p. m. and this morning the attendance was very large. Nothing can actually be told of the enrollment before tomorrow, but from indications the enrollment will be much larger than last year.

THIEVES ABROAD.

Michael Brothers' Store On Broadway, Way, Entered.

The Michael Bros. hardware and harness store on Broadway, near Second street, was burglarized some time between 12 o'clock Saturday night and this morning at day break. Twenty-five dollars in cash, a shotgun and some shells were taken, and no clue was left which may lead to the identity of the burglars.

Entrance to the building was effected from the rear by prizing the iron bars apart, wide enough to permit the passage of a body, and then the window frame and glass smashed out with a brick. The money drawers were searched and the $25 taken from one. The proprietors have searched for other missing articles, but can account for nothing taken but the money, gun and shells.

The matter was reported to police headquarters this morning, when the proprietors discovered the theft, and Detective Will Baker was placed on the job.

ALL REJECTED

BIDS FOR THE ELKS' NEW BUILDING OPENED THIS A. M.

They Were Considered Too High and New Ones Will Be Advertised for.

A meeting of the Elks' building committee was held this morning in Architect O. D. Schmidt's office in the Fraternity building, and bids for constructing the Elks' new building on North Fifth street between Broadway and Jefferson streets were opened.

There were only three bidders. George Katterjohn, Acree & Niemann, and the Paducah Construction company. The amounts of the bids were not given out, but the committee decided to reject them all on account of their being too high. It is understood that they were all close together, and were in the neighborhood of $30,000.

The building committee will hold another meeting tomorrow night, at which it is expected to order new bids advertised for.

The school authorities are very strict about vaccination and insist on enforcing the rule.

CAIRO RELENTS A LITTLE TOWARDS US

Paducah Health Certificates Now Recognized in Illinois.

This Does Not Include Cairo, Where City Quarantine Is in Force—Permits Still Necessary.

ILLINOIS DOCTORS HERE TODAY

The ban against Paducah health certificates has been partially raised in Cairo and Southern Illinois, but this does not mean that anyone can get in without a permit or health certificate. It simply means that Paducah health certificates will hereafter be recognized in Southern Illinois, outside of Cairo.

Heretofore Paducah health certificates have not been recognized anywhere in Southern Illinois and Paducahans could get into Cairo only by first securing a permit from Cairo.

Saturday evening it was decided to lift the embargo so far as Southern Illinois is concerned, and it was done. The Cairo Bulletin explains what the arrangement is, as follows:

"Arrangements have been made with the city officials of Paducah to lift the embargo upon Paducah health certificates. This does not mean, however, that Paducah certificates alone, will permit the holders to enter Cairo. The quarantine of the state and the quarantine of the city are entirely separate and under the laws of the latter no one can enter Cairo without first securing a proper permit. Lifting the embargo will mean only that Paducahans will be allowed to come to other points in Southern Illinois."

It is seen from the above that it is no easier now to get into Cairo than it was before, and people have to have permits just the same.

Cairo is not disposed to modify in the slightest the stringent quarantine regulations. The Bulletin says:

Alderman Thomas A. Fuller, president of the city board of health, was besieged yesterday by citizens who want the quarantine lifted. The only satisfaction they received was the statement that this would be done when a killing frost arrived.

"There is more need of strict quarantine now than at any other time," said Mr. Fuller last night. "People seem to think that because the papers are not devoting so much space to the news now and that the reports in New Orleans are growing better that the danger has passed. They overlook the fact that when Cairo had her epidemic, that the first case did not come here until late in September and that it continued to wipe out our citizens until late in October."

While a great number of merchants and others want the quarantine lifted or at least modified, the majority are still in favor of keeping the lid on, realizing the wisdom of the precautions taken by the city and state boards of health.

The Bulletin also makes this charge against Paducah, which is branded as a romance pure and simple by local members of the board of health:

The health authorities of Paducah and the owners of the steamer Dick Fowler may find themselves facing a charge of dumping yellow fever refugees in Illinois.

"Yesterday the Illinois inspectors discovered that a man named J. R. Pierce, a harnessmaker direct from the fever-infected districts of Mississippi, had arrived in Paducah a few days ago, and that the Paducah authorities upon learning that he was from the south, placed him aboard the steamer Dick Fowler and the officers ordered to put him ashore in Illinois a few miles above Cairo.

Pierce, according to his own story, was made to get off the boat about seven miles above Cairo. He walked down here and succeeded in getting past the guard. He was found soon afterwards, however, by the Illinois state authorities and immediately sent out of the city. While there is no danger of his having the fever, he having been away from the infected district for several days, it clearly shows the disposition of the Kentucky authorities and it is expected that the state board will take some action in the matter, or at any rate see that it is not repeated."

Dr. James Egan, secretary of the Illinois state board of health, and assistant, Dr. George T. Palmer, who has charge of the quarantining at Cairo, arrived late yesterday afternoon from Cairo on the launch "Desplain's," after having inspected all the ferries, landings, and such things between Cairo and Paducah. Dr. Galdeon, of Chicago, is in charge at Cairo during their absence.

The Illinois doctors had supper at the Palmer with Mayor Yeiser, Dr. H. P. Sights of the state board of health, and Dr. H. T. Rivers, state inspector for this county.

This morning the visitors were shown about the city by Mayor Yeiser and others in an auto, and will return to Cairo tonight.

THE CONTRACTORS

MUST STOP OBSTRUCTING THE STREETS, SAYS BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Much Complaint Over Their Making the Streets a Regular Dumping Ground.

The board of public works has issued instructions to the street inspector regarding the use of the street as dumping grounds for the materials and the dirt and trash taken from excavation of buildings. One member of the board said that the contractors had a right to use the street for building materials, but had no right to throw all the dirt and trash on the streets. Several places were cited one at Seventh and Broadway, where the material was piled out on the street for several days. Here the car tracks are double and much inconvenience was experienced by traffic going by that place.

It seems that some of the contractors are taking advantage of the privileges accorded them by the city laws, and piling everything they can onto the streets. In fact, some of them use the streets to store everything from huge tool houses on wheels, and piles of brick and mortar beds, to dirt and trash they do not want to haul away.

The board of works will order the street inspector to see that the contractors hereafter do not obstruct the streets and sidewalks any more than they are entitled to.

The board of works will meet Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of hearing reports on street work and to take up routine matters. There will be several matters which were referred to the city solicitor, city engineer and street inspectors taken up and reports heard.

For the present, Mr. Coleman may be seen at 2007 W. Broadway or 126 S. Fourth St. Telephone 354 and 43.

—Mr. L. C. Graham has leased the old I. C. freight depot at Eleventh and Broadway to use as a warehouse until he can build a new warehouse this fall or next spring.

Jimmy Britt Knocked Out by Battling Nelson in the Eighteenth Round

Colma, Cal., Sept. 11.—Oscar Battling Nelson, of Hegewisch, Ill., won the white light-weight championship of the world from James Edward Britt in the eighteenth round of a desperately contested battle here Saturday afternoon. It was a clean, knockout, administered during a fierce mixup in Britt's corner that resulted in the finality. It came so suddenly that it was entirely unexpected. The end resulted from a swift left drive, followed in a flash by a right swing to the jaw, they sent Britt to the ropes, and at the count of nine he rolled over on his hands and was unable to rise. Referee Eddie Graney then awarded the decision to Nelson.

IMPORTANT EVENT.

The Visit of Payne, the Great Advertiser, Is Announced.

Nothing could be more unexpected than the announcement that Payne, the great advertiser, will visit Paducah in the near future. This will prove an event of no common occurrence, for the reputation of this man is world-wide, and his achievements have won him the admiration of all classes. He immediately gains the confidence of those who have entrusted themselves to his care, and his bearing, which betrays the polished gentleman, has endeared him to the thousands he has addressed in various sections of the country. Wherever he becomes acquainted, his popularity is assured, as he meets his fellowman upon the place of cordiality and mutual goodwill.

The exact day of his arrival is, however, unknown, but the occasion of his visit being a matter of much concern, the event will be duly published in advance, thereby enabling everyone to become acquainted with one of the most marvelous men, of the age.

REPORTS CONFLICT ABOUT THE T. C. DEAL

Official Denials are Rather Equivocal, it Seems.

Nashville Men Are Confident It is a Go—Something Definite is Expected.

OTHER RAILROAD MATTERS.

Neither definite denial nor certain confirmation has been received of the reported lease of the Tennessee Central railroad to the Illinois Central and the Southern railroads.

A New York dispatch says:

New York, Sept. 11.—Representatives of the Illinois Central and the Southern railway companies denied the report that the Tennessee Central railroad is to be acquired by them and operated jointly under a ninety-nine year lease. It is stated that no negotiations are pending for the Tennessee Central. St. Louis and Nashville capitalists are largely interested in the property, which occupies an advantageous position in relation to other roads. Some of these acquainted with the situation express the opinion that ultimately it may be acquired by one of the large systems, but no deal is under way at present.

The people of Nashville, however, seem to credit the rumor. The Banner says:

All indications still point to the absorption of the Tennessee Central by the Illinois Central and the Southern railroads. General Manager G. A. Clark, who has been in St. Louis for the last fortnight has returned, but, though a Banner reporter called to see him several times, he was not in his office.

From the amount of real estate being bought for the railroad along their present belt line and near their present terminals, if from nothing else, every indication points to some road with more money back of it than the Tennessee Central taking a hand in the deal. Several tracts along Harrison street were on Friday transferred to L. H. Davis, giving a location very favorable for the establishment of terminal facilities, and though it is not known just for whom Mr. Davis is buying the land, there is every probability that it is for railroad use.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says in its railroad column that it has authentic advice, both from St. Louis and Nashville, that the deal has taken effect, and predicts that trains over the Southern and the Illinois Central will be running into Nashville by December 1.

H. M. Döll, chief clerk to T. B. McCabe, commercial agent of the Illinois Central railroad at Louisville, has resigned, effective September 15, and will leave shortly thereafter for Los Angeles Cal., where he expects to make his future home. Mr. Döll will be succeeded by T. J. Horan, who is now connected with the Louisville freight office of the Illinois Central in Louisville.

The Illinois Central has just completed an adjustment of the freight losses resulting from the fire at New Orleans several months ago. This will involve a settlement of shippers' claims of approximately $800,000.

The value of the property of the railroad destroyed in the fire was about $2,500,000, making the total loss $3,500,000. The company carries its own insurance so that the loss must be met from the funds established for such contingencies. This improvement resulting from the fire is great many peculiar things happened in railroad wrecks, one of which was disclosed when the body of Engineer A. H. Williamson, of Memphis, was found at the Obion wreck late Friday.

The remains of the unfortunate engineer had been searched for unsuccessfully for over 24 hours, when they were finally found beneath the engine of the other train. The wrecking crew and rescuers expected to find the body under the engineer's own train, and for that reason missed it.

How it got beneath Engineer Armstrong's engine is a mystery unless he jumped about the time the locomotives came together.

RURAL BOXES

IN McCRAKEN COUNTY WILL BE NUMBERED.

The Order Received Today—Rural Carrier Examination to Be Held Saturday.

The order from Washington was received today at the local postoffice providing for numbering the rural mail boxes. At present the rural carriers have nothing to go by except personal knowledge, and if any of them should become ill a new man would be unable to deliver much of the mail because he would not know the name of the owner of the various boxes along the route.

To obviate this all rural boxes will be numbered by their owners. The rural carriers will furnish the number of each box to the owner, and the owner will be required to put on the number. In this way mail will be addressed to a person with the number of the box. Just as a letter is addressed to a person in the city at the number of his residence.

An examination for rural delivery carriers will be held at the government building here on September 16th, and there will be nine applicants if those who have announced their intention to take the examination show up. There are no vacancies to fill, but the civil service commission holds examinations from time to time to have an eligible list from which to fill vacancies in case any exist. The lists are good for one year, and then a new list has to be secured.

Postman Jesse G. Curd is still at Portland, Oregon, attending the national convention of letter carriers and the exposition. He is not expected for a week or more yet.

Postman Charles Holliday is out again and at work after a several days' illness.

UNDER THE OTHER ENGINE.

The Body of Engineer Williamson, of Memphis, Was Found.

A great many peculiar things happened in railroad wrecks, one of which was disclosed when the body of Engineer A. H. Williamson, of Memphis, was found at the Obion wreck late Friday.

The remains of the unfortunate engineer had been searched for unsuccessfully for over 24 hours, when they were finally found beneath the engine of the other train. The wrecking crew and rescuers expected to find the body under the engineer's own train, and for that reason missed it.

Strikes Hidden Rocks.

When your ship of health strikes the hidden rocks of Consumption, Pneumonia, etc., you are lost, if you don't get help from Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. J. W. McKinnon of Talladega Springs, Ala., writes: "I had been very ill with Pneumonia, under the care of two doctors, but was getting no better when I began to take Dr. King's New Discovery. The first dose gave relief, and one bottle cured me."

Sure cure for sore throat, bronchitis, coughs and colds. Guaranteed at W. B. McPherson's drug store, price 50¢ and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

has not stopped the improvements mapped out early in the year. This includes the continuation of the double track in the neighborhood of Memphis. Only a comparatively short stretch remains to be completed and the closing up of this gap will give the Illinois Central a through double track line from Chicago to New Orleans.

Mr. John Staley went to Battle Creek, Michigan, last night. He will return with his brother, Mr. Dave Staley, who has been in the sanatorium at that place for the last three months, and recently had a dangerous operation performed. The operation was successful, and Mr. Staley is fast recovering. Both gentlemen are well known and popular engineers on the I. C. R. R.—Jackson Tenn., Whig.

Engineer Staley is well known in Paducah.

Mr. B. S. Phelps, local delegate to the National convention of Railway Carmen, has gone to Buffalo, N. Y., to attend. Mr. John Watts of the city, a member of the law committee of the national body left several days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Martin and Mrs. Robert Martin have gone to Cleveland, where the former goes to attend the national convention of Master Car Painters of the United States. Delegates from all over the country will be on hand.

Mr. Ben Herring, chief clerk in the general agent's office I. C. road, at Memphis, was visiting in Paducah yesterday.

Mr. Harry Judd, of the local I. C. pattern shops, is able to be at work again after a several days' illness.

The wrecking crew is still working the Obion river wreck and has secured most of the cars wrecked in the collision, but the engines have not yet been gotten out of the ravine. Half a dozen badly wrecked cars from Obion were brought here yesterday for repairs. Some of the rolling stock was a complete loss and only the trucks could be saved.

Dr. W. H. Pitcher, secretary of the board of education, thinks the Paducah schools are reached such a standard of excellency that he was moved to poetry when his little son started to school this morning.

"My wife looked so heart-broken to have the little fellow leave," Dr. Pitcher explained that I did my best to console her. Mothers feel generally that when their children start to school all the morals so carefully taught will be corrupted. In support of my contention of the excellency of the schools, I was moved to a few verses of poetry."

The following is Dr. Pitcher's poem on his son's advent into school:

Willie's Gone to School.
Dear little Willie's gone to school,
We left him at the door;
The baby that his mother had
Alas, is here no more!
His little kilts are put away.
His flaxen curls are shorn.
His toys lie in the hall today,
Neglected and forlorn.

Neighbor Adams' chickens calmly hunt
For bugs and worms and things
Or sun themselves, relieved from fear
Of broken legs or wings.
The dozing cat is huddled up
All in a peaceful heap.
And out upon the steps the dog
Is catching up on sleep.

Ah, sighing dear wife, why
Sit looking pensively there?
There still is sunlight in the sky
And sweetness in the air.
The peaceful moments calmly go,
Come, come, don't be a fool—
I'm sorry for the teacher, though,
Since Willie's gone to school.

To my little son William, on his first advent to school.

Miss Julia Penn, for Second Time, is to Enter Convent in Southern Indiana

Miss Julia Penn, of New Albany, Ind., a young lady who frequently visited Paducah a few years ago and was a guest of Judge D. L. Sanders and family, has for the second time entered a convent. Miss Penn has many friends here, who will be interested in the following from the Courier-Journal:

"Miss Julia Imogene Penn, only daughter of Col. George F. Penn, formerly a popular society girl of New Albany, has concluded to enter a convent of the Catholic church for the second time. She left New Albany this week for Terre Haute to enter St. Mary's-of-the-Woods convent as a novitiate of the Sisters of Providence. After a few months' probation she will take the veil.

"Miss Penn entered the Catholic convent at Nazareth, Ky., just one year ago. After remaining there less than a month she returned home at the urgent request of her parents and other members of the family and not on account of ill-health, as was reported at the time.

"My wife looked so heart-broken to have the little fellow leave," Dr. Pitcher explained that I did my best to console her. Mothers feel generally that when their children start to school all the morals so carefully taught will be corrupted. In support of my contention of the excellency of the schools, I was moved to a few verses of poetry."

The year spent at her home in New Albany has been devoted to religious work, but in that time she has never lost her desire to enter a convent and devote her life entirely to the good works of the Catholic sisterhood.

"When in society Miss Penn was noted for her vivacity, her amiability and charming manners. She was a prime favorite and always an acquisition to a social function. For several years she has been a communicant of Holy Trinity Catholic church, New Albany. She has lost none of her charming personality, but she has declined all social pleasures, devoting herself exclusively to her church and her home life."

Incredible Brutality.

It would have been incredible brutality if Chas. F. Lemberger of Syracuse, N. Y., had not done the best he could for his suffering son. "My boy," he says, "cut a fearful gash over his eye so I applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which quickly healed it and saved his eye." Good for burns and ulcers too. Only 25¢ at W. B. McPherson's drug store.

Daily Thought.

Few of us can be great, but all of us can be good.

WITTE ON OUR PRESIDENT.

The Russians who were sent to the peace conference not only created a more favorable impression in America of Russia, but also conceived a more correct idea of America. That M. Witte's estimate of President Roosevelt is sincere is shown by private letters he has written to Europe. One to a friend in Berlin says:

"From a moral standpoint, the president of the United States is a statesman of large calibre. Born in a time when politicians are more children of their century than of their history, he owes his high position, which he fills more worthily every day, exclusively to his personal qualities as revealed in actions requiring decision, tact and clear vision. The world recognizes this. When he speaks with President Roosevelt, he charms through the elevation of his thoughts and through that transparent philosophy which permeates his judgment. He has an ideal and strives for higher aims than a commonplace existence presents. In the stubborn struggles of our day men like Mr. Roosevelt have no leisure, for they are soldiers who cannot be relieved from the danger line."

It is not every Democrat who says what he thinks, or thinks what he says. For guileless, unsophisticated candor, however, Prison Commissioner Greene is a revelation. It has been charged that three guards in the Frankfort penitentiary were dismissed by the prison commissioners solely because the guards were opposed to the re-election of United States Senator J. S. C. Blackburn. Commissioner Greene admits that the welfare of his friends is more important to him than that of the great common people he represents, and that he intends to look out for his friends regardless of the great common people. To be more specific, he says in the Courier-Journal: "My observation teaches me that whenever subordinates or employees manifest antagonism and enmity toward the heads of departments the service is thereby weakened, and often results in serious disorders. Men who manage and control a large number of men must have harmony and the hearty co-operation of all men on the force. For myself, I want everybody to understand that I propose as long as I am in office to take care of my friends and let my enemies take care of themselves as best they can." The state administration would be fully justified now in "canning" Mr. Green without delay on account of his sentiments, even if it did not have in addition the precedent set by Mr. Green himself in looking out for its friends, and firing those who become persona non grata.

It is up to the people of Paducah to decide what kind of business men they want in the local boards. Nearly two years ago improvement bonds were voted. It required many months for the administration to issue and sell the bonds, and since then, almost a year, part of the money on which the taxpayers are paying four per cent interest has been re-loaned at three per cent and the remainder has lain idle, of no use whatever to the people, who are paying interest on it. This year has been wasted, instead of consumed in making the improvements intended, desired and needed, and now a large part of the work is to be postponed until next spring. This delay is very vexatious, but if there is any question about doing the work in a satisfactory manner this late in the year, it should be postponed. Loss, discomfort and disappointment are the penalty the people have to pay for electing to office the kind of men who are responsible for such a state of affairs.

Missouri now has her first Republican governor since 1872. It is Hon. John C. McKinley, lieutenant-governor, who is acting governor during the absence at the Portland exposition of Governor Folk. Mr. Folk is the only Democrat on the state ticket elected at the last election, and when he leaves the lieutenant governor in charge, Missouri has a Republican governor, as now.

The Britt-Corbett fight will probably evoke the usual protests about "bloody brutality," but the football contests will go on just the same, and never a word be said about the beaten, bruised and maimed. The man of sense, however, would prefer to take his chances in the prize ring if he had to choose between the two.

Louisville is making a hard fight against the local Democratic machine, but the fusionists, boltholecrats and whatnot are benevolently assured that they may cast the votes all right, but they can't count them.

"Graft" is becoming a very comprehensive term. It is often used now to describe what the other fellow gets that we want.

THE CHARITY CLUB

Will Have Charge of a Carnival Feature, the American Village.

The Paducah Traveling Men's Association will have a new feature in their carnival. It will be called the American Village and is a restaurant where meals and soft drinks will be served.

The officers of the association are very anxious to conduct the carnival on more moral lines than the usual carnival and will eliminate all such features as the German Villages and the other features to which there have been such strong objections from the clergy and laity.

The American Village will be in charge of the Charity club, an arrangement having been made by the two associations by which the Charity club will get a big per cent of the net profits.

WILLIS MOUNT ASKS FOR A CONTINUANCE

Affidavit Being Prepared and Will be Presented.

A Number of Minor Cases Called and
Disposed of in Circuit Court
Today.

TWO MURDER CASES ON DOCKET

There are two murder cases on the circuit court docket for today, but the indications are that neither will go to trial.

One is against Willis Mount, for killing Willis Nutty, a jockey, over a Fourth street saloon. He wants a continuance and the defense was ordered to prepare an affidavit. The Commonwealth is ready for trial.

The other murder case is against Porter Hart, colored, charged with killing Douglas Merriweather near Maxon's Mill. The witnesses are not here in the case.

It is likely that the Mount case will come up to be tried or continued some time about 4 o'clock this afternoon.

All the witnesses in the Porter Hart case are not before the court and Judge Reed is attempting to secure the return of subpoenas given the sheriff of Ballard county to serve. He does not know if they have ever been served. If they had, he could issue an attachment, but no returns have been made on them.

He will issue a rule on the sheriff of Ballard to compel him to make returns. Hart is charged with killing Douglas Merriweather near Maxon's Mill several months ago, and the trial of the case was set for today.

This afternoon the case against George Denny and Zona Moore, colored, charged with stealing $40 from E. H. Wilson, colored, was on trial. There is a great deal of evidence to hear and the case will likely consume an hour or two.

On account of the Willis Mount, white, and Porter Hart, colored, murder cases, being set for today, and there being several other cases on the docket, Judge Reed rushed court this morning in hearing the minor cases.

William Arnold, colored, who broke into the residence of Mr. Henry Zeiss and stole a gun, was allowed to plead guilty to grand larceny, and given one year in the penitentiary.

Wesley Davis, colored, charged with grand larceny, was allowed to plead guilty to petty larceny, the theft of brass from the railroad, and was given three months in the county jail at hard labor.

John Jenkins, colored, who assaulted Cassie Hughes, was given one year in the penitentiary for malicious assault. In all three above cases, at the suggestion of the attorneys, the jury did not leave its seat, but agreed in the court room.

F. E. Metzger was excused at a petit juror, and C. G. Babb substituted.

Discharges in Bankruptcy.

Mr. J. R. Puryear, clerk of the federal court, has received from Louisville the following discharges in bankruptcy, the petitions having been filed in this district:

Thomas H. Mohundro, Mayfield, white; Edward H. Wilson, city, colored; George L. Knowles, city, white; James F. Nicholson, Symsonia, white; Charles W. Brown, city, white; William A. Young, city, white, and D. Frank B. Smith, city, white.

One CaseAppealed.

The case of Josie Sebastaine against Lucille Thompson has been appealed from Justice R. J. Barber's court to circuit court.

The plaintiff took out a forcible detainer warrant in Justice Barber's court to secure the possession of property on West Kentucky avenue near 11th street and the court awarded her possession. The defendant then took an appeal to circuit court which was filed Saturday late.

Suits Filed.

Margaret Story Saturday filed suit against her husband Sam P. Story, for divorce and the custody of her three children. She alleged cruel and inhuman treatment. They married in 1900 and separated in 1903.

POLICE COURT

LIVELY FIGHT RESULTS IN WARRANT FOR MALICIOUS SHOOTING.

A Number of Cases Were On Judge Sanders' Docket This Morning to Be Tried.

One of the worst beaten up men ever brought to the police station able to walk, was placed in the lock-up Sunday morning to answer to the charge of a breach of the peace, but later developments resulted in a charge of malicious shooting with intent to kill.

Sunday morning near the railroad crossing on Terrell street, North Side, Sardis Hart and John Given, colored, got into a dispute resulting in Hart pulling his gun and firing at Given, the latter claims. Given attacked Hart with a rock, knocking him down with a blow in the face. He then grabbed the gun from the dazed negro and began beating him unmercifully, it is said.

Hart's nose was broken and battered in and both eyes closed, and his face was a mass of bruises.

The case was called in police court this morning, but Hart was unable to appear. Given alleged that he had been shot at, had knocked Hart in the head with a rock, taken the pistol and administered the beating.

Judge Sanders will issue a warrant for malicious shooting, this being insisted on by Given who claims he acted in self-defense.

Hart's injuries are serious and may disable him for some time. The case was continued until Hart is able to attend court.

Other cases were: Dan Campbell, colored, profanity, $5 and costs; Frazier Keizer, colored, profanity on the streets, $10 and costs; George Hardison white, breach of the peace, dismissed; Sam Gold, colored, stealing coal, held over for petty larceny; Bony Jones, colored, petty larceny, held; Ernest Ozment, white, breach of the peace, $5 and costs; Quan Castina, J. A. Carlson, white, tramps caught in a box car, dismissed and given hours to leave town.

Bony Jones is a negro who stole a silk cap from Wallerstein's clothing house Saturday night and was caught by Sheriff Lee Potter after a chase to Riverside hospital.

EXCITING RIDE TO CATCH HER TRAIN

Wife and Mother-in-Law of Dr. Dillon Have Thrilling Time.

Knowing the Train Could Not Make It, They Went 240 Miles in An Automobile.

HAVE LANDED IN NEW YORK

A New York dispatch gives the following thrilling account of how Mrs. Marmaduke Dillon, wife of the former Paducah doctor, who will visit his uncle, Dr. D. G. Murrell, shortly, reached the steamer in time to sail for the United States:

New York, Sept. 9.—A story of an exciting ride of 240 miles from Paris to Cherbourg in an open automobile in a driving rainstorm, to reach the steamer St. Louis, before she sailed, and to beat a train, was told today by Mrs. J. M. R. Dillon, wife of the State Entomologist of Louisiana, who, with her husband and mother, Mrs. L. H. Lintner, arrived from Cherbourg today on the St. Louis. Mrs. Dillon said that her husband had left Paris on the first section of the train for Cherbourg, and that she and her mother missed the second section. No other train could catch the steamer, and the railroad officials declared her request for a special train was preposterous. In haste, Mrs. Dillon hunted for the manager of an automobile garage, who would undertake to make the run to Cherbourg in an automobile, and found one who accepted $200 and a guarantee against loss for accident for the trip.

It was raining hard when the automobile started. Mrs. Dillon and her mother were spattered with flying mud, and the rain beat into their faces so that they could hardly breathe. Forty miles from Paris the machine killed two dogs that were fighting in the street, and later sent a peasant and his cart flying into the gutter, but the automobile covered the distance in five hours and twenty minutes, at the rate of forty-five miles an hour. It beat the train by twenty minutes, and Mrs. Dillon caught the steamer.

removed from it to Caseyville. The Ranger then returns to Cairo.

The steamer Harth leaves for Memphis tonight for a tow of empties.

The W. H. Butterff leaves at 4 o'clock this afternoon for Nashville instead of leaving at noon for Clarksville. The patronage is so small in this trade that the owners of the Butterff have stopped the Clarksville run, so that now only one trip a week is made from here.

The Henry Harley had up steam today preparatory to taking the place tomorrow of the John S. Hopkins, in the Evansville trade during the low water season. The Hopkins will tie up here and new boilers will be put on her. The Joe Fowler will lay up next week, but it has not been decided what boat will be run in her place.

The City of Saltillo passed up the Tennessee river last night from St. Louis.

Mr. Given Fowler went to Cairo this morning on business.

Mr. J. S. Jackson, the foundryman, yesterday celebrated the forty-ninth anniversary of his residence in Paducah. He came here from St. Louis to install the machinery in the old Allard Mill, and liked the place so well that he remained. He has served in both the council and school board, and is known all over this section.

A Chattanooga dispatch says: The plans of the lock and dam and the big power plant near this city to be erected at Hale's bar, in the Tennessee river, at a cost of over $3,000,000, are now ready for the inspection of contractors at the United States engineer's office here. The dam will be of stone and concrete, sixty-two feet high and 2,200 feet long. There will be forty-two turbine wheels in all, each of which will have a capacity of 2,250 kilowatts. The plans, for the first time, call for the placing of three turbine wheels on each shaft. At the big power plant at Niagara Falls there are two on each shaft.

CONTRACTORS READY.

To Start Work on Streets as Soon as Storm Water Sewers Are Built.

It is probable that the work of reconstructing Jefferson street and Kentucky avenue out to Ninth will begin as soon as possible, unless the legislative boards follow their usual custom of reversing themselves at their next meeting, and after having ordered work to proceed, order is postponed until next spring.

A communication from the Southern Bitulithic company to the board of public works states that the company is ready to begin work at any time. It cannot begin, however, until the storm water sewers are laid, and it is not known when this will be. The storm water sewers on Kentucky avenue are now being put down.

The bitulithic company did not want the work put off. It is generally admitted that it is unwise, at least, to put down this class of work in cold weather, and in addition the city runs the risk of having the streets torn up perhaps for blocks when the rainy weeks of fall come.

Mrs. Betsy Miller Succumbs to Dysentery After a Long Illness.

Mrs. Betsy Miller, aged 37, a native of England but for several years member of a band of gypsies in this country, died Saturday evening at Riverside hospital from dysentery, after a long illness. PADUCAH BANKING CO.

THE WESTERN BANK TO RE-OPEN OCT 1

Stockholders to be Assessed 83-1-2 Fe. Cent on Their Holdings.

All the Old Officers Will Resign But Most if Not All Will Be Re-elected, It Is Said.

$250,000 IN DOUBTFUL PAPER

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 11.—Thomas W. Thornton, receiver for the Western National bank, has forwarded to the Comptroller of the Currency the agreement of more than two-thirds of the stockholders of the bank by which they subject themselves to an assessment of 83 1-2 per cent. on their holdings, to be subscribed and paid at once, and further guaranteeing that the stock of the remaining non-paying holders shall be taken up by a syndicate of paying stockholders, who shall pay the assessment on this stock. The agreement was accompanied by the recommendation of Mr. Thornton that the bank be allowed to resume. Under this assessment the amount raised is $250,000, and fully covers all paper held by the bank and classed as bad or doubtful. It is believed that the conditions will be accepted by the comptroller, and that the bank will resume about October 1.

The doubtful paper that is represented by the $250,000 paid in cash derived from the assessment will continue the property of the bank, and as collections are made on this paper they will be paid into the bank as surplus and undivided profits. Not a cent is taken from the bank, and the money is put in, in addition to and is a guarantee for the paper that is classed as bad or doubtful.

Receiver Thornton will remain in charge of the bank until it is ready to be turned over to the directors a solvent institution.

"The bank will not be allowed to declare a dividend so long as there is a piece of bad paper in its holdings," said Mr. Thornton.

"Under the assessment, the bank will be solvent. It not only provides money to pay its depositors and liabilities, but places $300,000 against its capital stock.

If the comptroller gives his consent to the resumption, and it is believed that his consent will be given, every director and officer will retire and new directors and officers will be elected by the stockholders. It is generally conceded that in the event of a reorganization, T. L. Jefferson, present president, who succeeded W. B. Smith, in office several months ago, will be elected to that office.

The bank was reorganized and made a national bank about a year ago. Several months ago its stock took a tumble on the exchange, declining in a few days from 107 to 38, but finally recovered to 40.

The first intimation the public had that the bank was in trouble was when the statement to the clearing house showed the reserve to be below that required by law. The bank made repeated and determined efforts to restore the surplus, but these efforts were cut short by the action of the controller of the currency, who closed its doors the morning of Monday, August 21.

The large amount of paper classed as bad or doubtful was a surprise to the public. Paper so classed amounted to $250,000, while the capital stock is only $300,000.

BOX FACTORY FILL

Will Be Built, in All Probability, at No Distant Date.

The matter of making a small fill to the new box factory now under course of construction on Caldwell street, extended was referred to a committee which today inspected the location and will bring in recommendations at the next meeting of the aldermanic board.

It seems that some one assured the box factory promoters that the city would build the fill if the factory was located here. The expense will amount to over $100 and some of the legislators did not think the city should go to that expense for running a fill to benefit a private corporation. However, at a special meeting, the matter was brought up and referred to a committee for investigation.

I never expect to be free from kidney complaint, for I have suffered excruciating when the attacks were at their height. Cat Bit Her Tongue.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 11.—That Lucille Hudson, the 3-year-old daughter of Col. The child was shot through the hip last Christmas day by the accidental discharge of a revolver in the hands of her father. She lay between life and death for weeks, but recovered. Strike at Daniel Boone Mine.

Madisonville, Ky., Sept. 10.—The Daniel Boone mines, located between Nortonville and St. Charles on the L. C. railroad, is practically closed down as the result of a strike among the men, resulting from a reduction of wages made by the owners and managers of the property. About a week ago, Mr. Knight, the manager, posted a notice to the effect that on a certain day the wages would be reduced and the men claim that it figured out an average reduction of about 35 per cent. They say they cannot live on the wages offered and there is nothing left for them to do but quit.

Fire in Hopkinsville.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 10.—The stable and wagon house of the Consumers Ice company on the corner of Railroad and Fourth street was destroyed by fire Saturday night and it was only by extraordinary efforts that a more destructive fire was averted. The building was situated near the main building of the company and contained several horses and vehicles. There were eight horses in the building when the fire broke out and five of them were burned to death.

The loss was between five and eight thousand dollars, and was partially covered by insurance.

The Return of SHERLOCK HOLMES

By A. CONAN DOYLE

Author of "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," "The Hound of the Baskervilles," "The Sign of the Four," "A Study in Scarlet," etc.

The Adventure of the Second Stain

No. 13 of the Series

"Nay, madam; there again you ask me more than I can possibly answer."

"Then I will take up no more of your time. I cannot blame you, Mr. Holmes, for having refused to speak more freely, and you on your side will not, I am sure, think the worse of me because I desire, even against his will, to share my husband's anxieties. Once more I beg that you will say nothing of my visit."

She looked back at us from the door, and I had a last impression of that beautiful, haunted face, the startled eyes and the drawn mouth. Then she was gone.

"Now, Watson, the fair sex is your department," said Holmes, with a smile, when the dwindling frown of skirts had ended in the slam of the front door. "What was the fair lady's game? What did she really want?"

"Surely her own statement is clear and her anxiety very natural."

"Hum! Think of her appearance, Watson—her manner, her suppressed excitement, her restlessness, her tenacity in asking questions. Remember that she comes of a caste who do not lightly show emotion."

"She was certainly much moved."

"Remember also the curious earnestness with which she assured us that it was best for her husband that she should know all. What did she mean by that? And you must have observed, Watson, how she maneuvered to have the light at her back. She did not wish us to read her expression."

"Yes, she chose the one chair in the room."

"And yet the motives of women are so inscrutable. You remember the woman at Margate whom I suspected for the same reason. No powder on her nose—that proved to be the correct solution. How can you build on such a quicksand? Their most trivial action may mean volumes, or their most extraordinary conduct may depend upon a hairpin or a curling tong. Good morning, Watson."

"You are off?"

"Yes, I will while away the morning at Godolphin street with our friends of the regular establishment. With Eduardo Lucas lies the solution of our problem; though I must admit that I have not an inkling as to what form it may take. It is a capital mistake to theorize in advance of the facts. Do you stay on guard, my good Watson, and receive any fresh visitors. I'll join you at lunch if I am able."

All that day and the next and next Holmes was in a mood which his friends would call taciturn and others morose. He ran out and ran in, smoked incessantly, played snatches on his violin, sank into reveries, devoured sandwiches at irregular hours and hardly answered the casual questions which I put to him. It was evident to me that things were not going well with him or his quest. He would say nothing of the case, and it was from the papers that I learned the particulars of the inquest and the arrest, with the subsequent release, of John Mitton, the valet of the deceased. The coroner's jury brought in the obvious "willful murder," but the parties remained as unknown as ever. No motive was suggested. The room was full of articles of value, but none had been taken. The dead man's papers had not been tampered with. They were carefully examined and showed that he was a keen student of international politics, an indefatigable gossip, a remarkable linguist and an untiring writer. He had been on intimate terms with the leading politicians of several countries, but nothing sensational was discovered among the documents which filled his drawers. As to his relations with women, they appeared to have been promiscuous, but superficial. He had many acquaintances among them, but few friends, and no one whom he loved. His habits were regular, his conduct inoffensive. His death was an absolute mystery and likely to remain so.

As to the arrest of John Mitton, the valet, it was a council of despair as an alternative to absolute inaction. But no case could be sustained against him. He had visited friends in Hammersmith that night. The alibi was complete. It is true that he started home at an hour which should have brought him to Westminster before the time when the crime was discovered, but his own explanation that he had walked part of the way seemed probable enough in view of the fineness of the night. He had actually arrived at 12 o'clock and appeared to be overwhelmed by the unexpected tragedy. He had always been on good terms with his master. Several of the dead man's possessions, notably a small case of razors, had been found in the valet's boxes, but he explained that they had been presents from the deceased, and the housekeeper was able to corroborate the story. Mitton had been in Lucas' employment for three years. It was noticeable that Lucas did not take Mitton on the continent with him. Sometimes he visited Paris for three months on end, but Mitton was left in charge of the Godolphin street house. As to the housekeeper, she heard nothing on the night of the crime. If her master had a visitor he had himself admitted him.

So for three mornings the mystery remained, so far as I could follow it in the papers. If Holmes knew more, he kept his own counsel, but as he told me that Inspector Lestrade had taken him into his confidence in the case I knew that he was in close touch with every development. Upon the fourth day there appeared a long telegram from Paris which seemed to solve the whole question.

"A discovery has just been made by the Parisian police," said the Daily Telegraph, "which raises the veil which hung round the tragic fate of Mr. Eduardo Lucas, who met his death by violence last Monday night in Godolphin street, Westminster. Our readers will remember that the deceased gentleman was found stabbed in his room and that some suspicion attached to his valet, but that the case broke down on an alibi. Yesterday a lady, who has been known as Mme. Henri Fournaye, occupying a small villa in the Rue Austerlitz, was reported to the authorities by her servants as being insane. An examination showed she had indeed developed mania of a dangerous and permanent form. On inquiry the police have discovered that Mme. Henri Fournaye only returned from a journey to London on Tuesday last, and there is evidence to connect her with the crime at Westminster. A comparison of photographs has proved conclusively that M. Henri Fournaye and Eduardo Lucas were really one and the same person and that the deceased had for some reason lived a double life in London and Paris. Mme. Fournaye, who is of creole origin, is of an extremely excitable nature and has suffered in the past from attacks of jealousy which have amounted to frenzy. It is conjectured that it was in one of these that she committed the terrible crime which has caused such a sensation in London. Her movements upon the Monday night have not yet been traced, but it is undoubtedly that a woman answering to her description attracted much attention at Charing Cross station on Tuesday morning by the wildness of her appearance and the violence of her gestures. It is probable, therefore, that the crime was either committed when insane or that its immediate effect was to drive the unhappy woman out of her mind. At present she is unable to give any coherent account of her life."

"Yes, she chose the one chair in the room."

"And yet the motives of women are so inscrutable. You remember the woman at Margate whom I suspected for the same reason. No powder on her nose—that proved to be the correct solution. How can you build on such a quicksand? Their most trivial action may mean volumes, or their most extraordinary conduct may depend upon a hairpin or a curling tong. Good morning, Watson."

"You are off?"

"Yes, I will while away the morning at Godolphin street with our friends of the regular establishment. With Eduardo Lucas lies the solution of our problem; though I must admit that I have not an inkling as to what form it may take. It is a capital mistake to theorize in advance of the facts. Do you stay on guard, my good Watson, and receive any fresh visitors. I'll join you at lunch if I am able."

All that day and the next and next Holmes was in a mood which his friends would call taciturn and others morose. He ran out and ran in, smoked incessantly, played snatches on his violin, sank into reveries, devoured sandwiches at irregular hours and hardly answered the casual questions which I put to him. It was evident to me that things were not going well with him or his quest. He would say nothing of the case, and it was from the papers that I learned the particulars of the inquest and the arrest, with the subsequent release, of John Mitton, the valet of the deceased.

If we were to assemble all those who have been cured of heart disease by Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and who would to-day be in their graves had not Dr. Miles' been successful in perfecting this wonderful heart specific, they would populate a large city.

What a remarkable record—a breathing, thinking, moving monument, composed of human lives—that for which every other earthly possession is sacrificed.

The Miles Medical Co. receive thousands of letters from these people like the following:

"I feel indebted to Dr. Miles' Heart Cure for my life, and to all the attention of others suffering as I did to this remarkable remedy for the heart. For a long time I had suffered from shortness of breath after any little exertion, palpitation of the heart, and at times terrible pain in the region of the heart, so serious that I feared that I would some time drop dead upon the spot. I read one of your circulars, and immediately went to my druggist and purchased two bottles of the Heart Cure, and took it according to directions, with the result that I am entirely cured. Since then I never miss an opportunity to recommend this remedy to my friends who have heart trouble; in fact I am a traveling advertisement, and I am widely known in this locality."

WELLS CONVICTED

GIVEN A LIFE SENTENCE AT SMITHLAND FOR MURDERING HOCKENBERRY.

The Trial of James Cowan, For Killing Warren Woodward, is Now in Progress.

Smithland, Ky., Sept. 11.—John Wells was Saturday afternoon convicted of the murder of John Hockenberry and given a life sentence. The crime was an unusually atrocious one, Hockenberry being knocked in the head with a stiff oar, his body weighted and thrown into Cumberland river above here, being found two or three weeks subsequently.

Wells had deserted his family and was infatuated with Hockenberry's step daughter, and Hockenberry objected, which is supposed to have furnished the motive for the crime. The girl, after Wells had been convicted of chicken stealing and given a year in the penitentiary, confessed that he killed her father.

Wells became enraged after his conviction Saturday and did not want to be placed in his cell, and had to be forced in by several men who were called to the assistance of the jailer. He escaped from the jail with two other alleged murderers several months ago, but after several days of freedom, was recaptured.

The trial of James Cowan for shooting Warren Woodward, two years ago, as a result of a quarrel between their children, is now on and will probably not be finished until tomorrow night or Wednesday.

TO BE CONTINUED.

Colonel John M. Fuller, of Honey Grove, Texas, nearly met his Waterloo, from Liver and Kidney trouble. In a recent letter, he says: "I was nearly dead, of these complaints, and, although I tried my family doctor he did me no good; so I got a 50c bottle of your great Electric Bitters, which cured me. I consider them the best medicine on earth, and thank God who gave you the knowledge to make them." Sold, and guaranteed to cure, Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Kidney Disease, by W. B. McPherson, druggist, at 50c a bottle.

NEW BANK.

Is Talked of in Louisville—No definite Steps.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 11.—Plans for the establishment of a new bank in Louisville became known for the first time yesterday. The contemplated capital stock of $250,000, and L. M. Rice, of the tobacco firm of Rice & Turner, is booked to be the president. Young Rice, and his wife, Mrs. Alice Hagan Rice, well-known authors, will be among the stockholders, and it is also understood that W. O. Head and T. J. O'Brien are interested in the organization.

About half of the capital stock has already been subscribed, and as soon as the subscription is complete applications for a charter will be made to the comptroller of the currency. It is hoped to have the bank in shape for business by December 1.

There were 37 bids, but several were not in compliance with the rules laid down in the instructions and were not considered and only 32 were properly before the board.

T. C. Brooks & Sons, of Jackson, Mich., was the lowest bid and was $29,400 for plant complete, and the next lowest bidder was Guild & Co., of Chattanooga, whose bid was for $30,670 complete.

The bids ran up to as high as $33,813 and to these sums must be added rock excavations, which is estimated at 500 cubic yards at a cost of about $1,250.

On the pipe reservoir, power house, excavating, etc., the successful bidder's price was $9,738.56; Guild & Co., $9,500, and P. H. Porter, $9,527.56.

T. C. Brooks & Sons will begin work at once.

The pipe will arrive by October 1 and excavating will begin by that time.

Mr. Harry Brooks will be here personally to conduct the work.

METROPOLIS NEWS

The mandamus suit brought by ex-Mayor Gibbons in behalf of himself as a taxpayer against the present Mayor Elliott and the city council, has been finally tried before Judge Duncan who found for the plaintiff. The suit was to force the city to pay $2,000 worth of wharf bonds, the money, it was claimed by plaintiff, had already been appropriated and was available. The defendants claimed differently and wanted to put the matter off, which raised considerable discussion and not a little feeling. This matter has been the cause of much wrangling in the council for sometime and the majority of the taxpayers hope this will end the matter for good.

HEAVY FINES.

For Those Alleged to Have Been Inducing Witnesses to Leave.

Winchester, Ky., Sept. 11.—After deliberating for nine and a half hours the jury in the case of B. F. French, charged with contempt of court in inducing witnesses to leave the state in the damage suit of Mrs. J. B. Marcus for the murder of her husband, brought in a verdict of $5,000 fine, but no imprisonment.

Felix Feltner was tried for complicity in the same offense and was given a fine of $3,000 and two years in jail at hard labor.

French has ample real estate to satisfy the judgment, and he was not arrested or required to give bond.

This is probably the largest fine ever inflicted in the state for this offense. French's attorneys at once filed grounds for a new trial and Judge Benton continued the hearing of this motion.

The case against Alex H. Hargis, who was jointly indicted with French and Ed. Callahan, but was granted a separate trial, was filed away and the cases against Judge James Harris and Sheriff Ed. Callahan were set for trial September 25.
